

We have a proven record of gaining sustained favorable media attention for our clients. A combination of media releases, press conferences, editorial board meetings, opinion piece placements, blog postings, background briefings and television and radio interviews, are used. A particular strength is neutralizing any possible negative attention and dealing with any crisis that emerges.